Council to Ask Bids on Water Plant Addition

Will Be Opened
Nov. 15; to Determine Cost

Main, Robinson
Extensions Paving
Project for 1956

The Harrisburg city council acted again yesterday to try to build an addition to the water treatment plant.

The council voted to advertise for bids Oct. 25 for construction of the plant according to specifications already submitted by the Champaign engineering firm, Sodemann and Associates.

The bids will be opened Nov. 15. The council also:

(a) Took bids for study toward the purchase of a new fire truck;

(b) Told a group of residents that the extension of South Main street to Robinson, and Robinson from Main to Granger would be the No. 1 paving project of 1956;

(c) Accepted an outright grant of 40 acres of land in the Middle Fork creek area north of town from the Sahara Coal Co.;

(d) Approved the report of Police Magistrate Vern Joyner Jr., the city's share of receipts for September being $583.10.

Most time was taken on the discussion of improving the water plant.

Some time ago the Champaign engineering firm, Sodemann and Associates, was told to prepare estimates of cost in improving the treatment plant and this was done. Prepared were plans for an addition of two filter units and mechanical equipment for the settling basin at an estimated cost of $55,000. This would give the city a capacity of 1,600,000 gallons a day compared with its present million.

In the summer months the gallonage now runs around 1,250,000. But after first voting to advertise for bids to construct according to the Sodemann plans, the council a few weeks ago decided that it would not have the money to build and cancelled the bid advertisements. George E. Sodemann of the engineering company was present yesterday at the request of the council to answer questions and state his views on the matter, after which the council again decided to advertise for bids.

He was told that there is but $18,000 left out of the $200,000 Lake bond issue because the lake cost more than had been anticipated. Then members asked him if his specifications could be cut downward.

Says Bids Needed
Sodemann answered that any cuts in specifications would cut down the efficiency of the plant and the quality of the water.

"I can't find any way to cut down on the project and come up with a plan that would meet your needs," he stated.

He was told that there is $28,000 in a water reserve fund and that possibly $18,000 might be taken from this to give the city a total of around $36,000 with which to construct the needed additions.

Sodemann stated that his $55,000 was only an estimate and that bids would be needed to determine actual construction costs. He suggested:

Boy Scouts to Collect Waste Paper

Members of Troop 23, Boy Scouts of America, will stage a waste paper collection in Harrisburg Saturday, Oct. 29, it has been announced.

T. P. Thompson, troop committeeman in charge of the paper collection, stated today plans were to have eight trucks working that day and that every residence in the city would be contacted for waste paper.

It is requested that papers be boxed or tied in bundles and left near the street for rapid pickup. The collection, by Boy Scouts of Troop 23 Harrisburg, will start about 8 a. m. Saturday, Oct. 29, and continue until all sections of Harrisburg have been visited in a search for waste paper. Proceeds from the sale of the paper will be used to further the activities of the troop.

United Nations Nearest Thing to World Parliament, Rev. Cummins Tells Kiwanis

The United Nations headquarters in New York is the nearest thing to a world parliament and the speakers there have the entire world as an audience, Rev. W. L. Cummins told members of the Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple.

The speaker, pastor of the Methodist church, told of his visit to the UN headquarters and described the physical beauty of the huge building and the structure upon which the United Nations is founded.

He told of the duties of the General Assembly to elect officers including the secretary-general and to elect the non-permanent members of the Security Council; to administer the United Nations and set the budget and pro-rate the cost to each member nation.

Rev. Cummins stated that the entire 10-year cost of the UN to the United States was less than the price of a large bomber.

In his opinion, Rev. Cummins stated, the United Nations has been worth far more than its cost. The organization cannot enforce peace or declare war, but it wields a tremendous influence in world opinion on any question.

He stated it is a place where people can get together and talk over problems for the first time in history. "I don't have to agree," he said, but the fact of talking and giving their opinions on problems is of great value.

Another branch of the United Nations, the Economic and Social Organization, Rev. Cummins said, is highly important in dealing with the economic conditions and social problems of the world. It is a tremendous task, he said, since it deals with human rights of all nations.

He stated the member nations sign covenants of human rights to the degree which they are able to agree. If a nation cannot conscientiously endorse all the covenants, then it signs those upon which it can agree.

Some of the valuable work in the human relations field includes technical assistance and education. "People in general are interested in human rights because all people are human," Rev. Cummins said.

The United Nations, Rev. Cummins stated, creates interest in all world problems and provides a place where they can be talked out. "The headquarters is a nation with Farmers' Night Next Tuesday."

In addition to the General Assembly and the Economic and Social Organization, Rev. Cummins discussed the Security Council and its setup of five permanent members—the Big Five—and of six additional non-permanent members which are elected. He discussed the veto privilege of any permanent member and stated it had been used many times by Russia, but not once by the U. S. and Allied powers.

He also discussed the Trusteeship Council, another branch of the United Nations which administers the trust territories which have been detached from other nations following war.

Ray Durham was program chairman for the meeting and stated the United Nations needs support because people generally are not informed about its structure and goals.

President Dan Davis announced that next Tuesday night the Kiwanis club would observe Farmers' Night and Saline county farmers will be guests of club members.

Guests at last night's meeting were Rev. Joe Morrison, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Dr. James Baldwin, evangelist at the revival there and pastor of the First Baptist church in Salem. He is a Harrisburg native.

Virden Man Held For Murder in Fatal Shooting

SPRINGFIELD — Paul W. Bettis, 31, Virden, told police today he shot and killed Fred E. O'Brien, 32, with a birthday present pistol over O'Brien's alleged attentions to his wife.

O'Brien, of Springfield, was shot eight times Tuesday as he got into his car to leave work at the Pillsbury Mills plant here.

Bettis told officers the cause of the shooting dated back to Feb. 22 when his wife, then employed at a Virden bowling alley, came home at 2 a. m. She later told him she had been with O'Brien, Bettis said.

He said the matter had preyed on his mind ever since.

Bettis said he drove home after the shooting, told his wife what he had done and reloaded the pistol with the intention of shooting himself.

He said his 14-year-old daughter talked him out of killing himself and urged him to surrender.

Mrs. Ward Trovillion Of Goreville Dies
Mrs. Carrie Trovillion, 68, wife of Ward Trovillion of Goreville, died at 5 a. m. today at the Marion Memorial hospital. The body was taken to the VanNatta funeral home in Goreville and funeral plans are incomplete.

Margaret and Family Dine with Heads of Church

Archbishop May Deliver Verdict on Attitude to Wedding

LONDON — Princess Margaret today resumed the royal duties which are among the greatest stumbling blocks to her reported romance with RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

She presented colors to a battalion of Highlander troops on famed Salisbury Plain southwest of London and told them that this is a time "for resolute and unwavering service."

Tonight she and other members of the royal family dine with heads of the Church of England, who are among the strongest opponents of her possible marriage to a divorced man.

The state dinner for the royal family gave the outspoken Archbishop of Canterbury an opportunity to deliver his verdict on whether the church will use all its power to block a wedding.

The dinner at Lambeth Palace was the fourth of five crucial events this week in the unfolding romance.

There were three Tuesday. Prime Minister Anthony Eden met with his cabinet to discuss the legal implications of such a wedding. Then Eden went to see the Queen. While they talked Princess Margaret received Townsend once more—their sixth date in six days.

Cabinet Meets Thursday
The fifth major event of the week comes Thursday when Eden, believed fully briefed in an unusually long 90-minute call on the Queen at Buckingham Palace, holds another cabinet meeting at No. 10 Downing St.

Tonight's dinner was a crucial one though the conversation may never be made public. It brought Margaret together with her sister the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh who scowled behind dark glasses Tuesday when he was caught and detained by the throng in front of Clarence House. He is reported leading the opposition to the wedding.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, could not sanction the marriage. But it was still unknown whether he would lead the Church of England in condemning it if Margaret chose to wed Townsend outside the state church.

The traditions of the empire hinged on his decision—silence or public protest. The crown and the church are linked in a thousand years of union and the Queen herself is defender of the faith.

SA Fund Drive Reaches $4,300

The Salvation Army drive's thermometer of progress was marked up to $4,300 today, as Saline county is slowly nearing its unofficial goal of $5,000, in order to keep the local Army post here.

The total amount to present includes $650 of merchandise, $3,650 cash. Eldorado and Harrisburg are still pushing to bring in more funds.

Chairman John W. Biggers predicts that another $500 will come in, but it is necessary that all workers turn in their solicitations.

Biggers stated that the people of Harrisburg can help by calling in their contributions if no one has contacted them. Persons interested in this fine charity are urged to call the Salvation Army, 871, or John Biggers, 302.

Romance of Combat Veteran, Major's Wife Ends in Murder and Suicide

MIAMI — A soldier's suicide note today told the story of his love for a major's wife that began early in his military career and ended in a wild ride across the Black Forest of Germany. Bryson was captured, court-martialed, and dishonorably discharged from the Army.

"This ends what was once a beautiful romance," the note said. George D. Bryson Jr., 32-year-old combat veteran of two wars, wrote the note Tuesday a few hours before he pumped two bullets into his mistress, Mrs. Sylvia Dahl Hess, 22, then shot himself in the temple and fell dead across her body.

Witnesses said Bryson met Mrs. Hess at an intersection near where she worked as a waitress. They quarreled violently and slapped at each other. Then Bryson took a gun from his pocket and fired the three fatal shots.

The romance ended much as it had begun.

Bryson, a veteran of World War II and the Korean War had risen from buck private to first lieutenant and was stationed in Germany when he met Sylvia two years ago.

Paddy Keough Strikes Out on TV Quiz; Loses $32,000 on Baseball Query

NEW YORK — Paddy Keough, a 62-year-old baseball expert who blew $32,000 on a TV quiz show by striking out in the clutch, was taking his loss in stride today.

Keough, the first loser at a level above $8,000 on CBS' "The $64,000 Question" muffed a query in his baseball category Tuesday night and wound up with a Cadillac as consolation prize.

His failure cost him the $16,000 he had built up during his preceding weeks on the program.

Keough, who sat in stunned silence as he was chauffeured off-stage in his new sedan, recovered sufficiently after the show to remark: "I'm a sportsman. Win or lose, you take your chances."

Keough, employed by a coke plant in St. Louis, was asked to name the ballplayer who held the all-time record batting average for three major league teams, the names of the teams and the exact averages.

U. of I. Mining Students Visit Sahara Properties

Senior mining engineering students and faculty members from the University of Illinois, on an annual inspection trip, today were visiting the Sahara Coal Co. properties.

The group went underground to inspect Sahara Mine 16 and also visited No. 6, the strip mining operation, and the LOX plant on the grounds west of the city.

At 3:30 p. m. the group was scheduled to visit the oil field of Inland Producers, Inc., at Eldorado.

Tonight the group will be guests of the Sahara company at a dinner at Schierle's cafe. The members will spend the night at the Neal motel at Eldorado and tomorrow will visit the Alcoa mine and Alcoa's fluor spar mill at Rosiclare.

Making the trip are F. D. Wright and G. R. Eadie, faculty members, and J. W. Emison, D. K. Holmes, P. R. Sprehe and C. S. Versemann, seniors. Mr. Eadie is a native of Eldorado.

Mother Says No to Movie; May Have Saved Son's Life

CHICAGO — Mrs. E. J. Padal said today she may have saved her 10-year-old son's life by not letting him go to a movie Sunday.

The boy, Richard, wanted to tag along to the movies with three of his friends. But Mrs. Padal ruled in favor of a family auto trip to the Williams Bay, Wis., area.

Richard cried when his mother said "no."

But about five hours later his three friends, Robert Peterson and John and Anton Schuessler, were murdered somewhere on Chicago's northwest side.

Ike and Dulles Share Hopes of Geneva Results

DENVER — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles reported after a conference with President Eisenhower today that he and the chief executive had shared a "measured hope" for concrete achievements from the forthcoming Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva.

Dulles, following a 25-minute session at the President's bedside at Fitzsimons Army Hospital, said he expected no "spectacular results" from Geneva but that "any results at all would mark an advance on most if not all of our prior conferences with the Soviet Union."

Dulles covered the Geneva agenda again with Mr. Eisenhower and reported that the President was pleased that he, Dulles, planned to stop in Rome for brief conferences with top Italian leaders before going on to the foreign ministers conference.

Continue to Progress
"I go to Geneva with the assurance that I have behind me a President who fully knows the issues and who has given me a full and comprehensive mandate to speak for our nation at that conference," Dulles said at a news conference following the meeting with the President.

As Dulles met with the President, medical reports continued to show a steady progress in Mr. Eisenhower's recovery from a heart attack suffered Sept. 24.

The President steadily gained strength and his doctors went ahead with their methodical preparations to get him back on his feet again. He was allowed in a wheelchair Tuesday for the first time.

After the President enjoyed his first wheelchair outing, Mrs. Eisenhower made her first public social appearance since he was stricken Sept. 24.

She attended a lunch and fashion show given by officers' wives at the hospital officers' club, and later went to the home of her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, before returning to the hospital.

It was the second time the first lady had left the main hospital building since the President's heart attack.

Begin Work on Medical Building, Travelstead Home

Construction has started on Dr. B. E. Montgomery's new medical building on Main street between the Colonial hotel and the Cummins building.

Work is being done by the Evans Construction Co., St. Louis contractors who built the Methodist church. Construction supervisor is Paul Wallace of Harrisburg, who also supervised the Methodist church job.

The building will be a modern one-story brick structure with three suites of offices, two for physicians and one for a dentist. The structure, which will be 30 feet across the front and run back for 94 feet, will have x-ray and laboratory facilities.

Dr. Montgomery said the structure probably will be called the Medical Arts building.

Besides this new medical building, the Evans company also is building the new home of Dr. E. M. Travelstead, at Webster and Elm streets, where Mr. Wallace also is the construction supervisor.

This new home will be two-story colonial style with seven rooms, two baths and garage. First floor exterior will be of brick with the second story and the garage of weatherboarding.

Mr. Wallace is building a large home for himself on East Gaskins street, working when he has available time. This will be a brick veneer ranch-type house with six rooms and bath, plus garage. It will have a 52-foot front and will be 40 feet deep.

'Hot Rod' Cars Reported in Area of Bodies

Murder of Three Boys One of Chicago's Most Shocking Crimes

CHICAGO — A motorist reported today that he saw two "hot rod" cars in a forest preserve parking area a few feet from the ditch where the nude and mutilated bodies of three young boys were found.

Police said the report was their "hottest lead so far."

The motorist, E. J. Malone of suburban Schiller Park, said he saw a light green convertible and a cream-colored sedan Tuesday morning, a few hours before the bodies were found.

But he said he thought nothing of it at the time and naturally did not get the license numbers.

Police said the "hot rod" angle gave credence to the theory that the three youngsters were slain by a teen-age gang in one of the city's most shocking crimes.

Search Through Woods
The bodies of the three boys, missing since Sunday, were found stacked like cordwood in a ditch in Robinson's Woods northwest of the city. The victims were Robert Peterson, 14, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton Jr., 11.

A searching party of about 150 men, including 110 members of the 49th Anti-Aircraft Battalion stationed near the scene, searched the woods this morning.

There was a report that a soldier had found a pair of burned dungarees, but police said they had not been able to check it out.

In a refuse can near a trailer camp searchers found sections of a rope which appeared to have been cut and used to strangle the two lengths of about four feet and another about two feet.

Detectives said the rope possibly was used to bind the victims.

Coroner Walter J. McCarron conducted an inquest this morning at the county morgue and said later he believes the crime was the work of a gang.

Suspect A "Gang"
"We're all convinced that not one but at least two or three people are involved," he said. "We don't know, but it might turn out to be a teen-age gang like the Pachucos."

Harry Glos, McCarron's chief investigator, said, "I don't believe we'll ever find a sex motive."

Glos said he believes the youngsters were slain by a gang and that their bodies were disposed "to make it look like a sex crime."

Although preliminary reports indicated the victims died Sunday night, Glos said he believes they may have died as late as Tuesday morning, because the bodies showed few signs of exposure.

The fathers of the victims, Malcolm Peterson, 36, a carpenter, and Anton Schuessler, 42, a tailor, testified at the inquest. Peterson broke down and wept. Schuessler had to be helped to and from the witness stand.

Peterson said his son was "a home boy . . . and he went away Sunday and we weren't able to find him."

He told of the frantic search he and Schuessler made Sunday night after their sons had left home to go to a downtown movie and had failed to return.

It was by far one of the worst crimes in Chicago's history.

The only comparable cases were the murder of 14-year-old Bobby Franks by Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb almost 30 years ago and the slaying of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan by William Heirens in 1946.

Actor John Hodiak Dies of Heart Attack

His latest picture, "Trial," in which he plays an attorney, was scheduled to open its first run today.

He was married in 1946 to actress Anne Baxter. They were later divorced.

Adolescents Are Not So Mixed Up

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Our "hot rod" adolescents may not be the bundles of anxiety many persons have thought them to be, according to Dr. Warren R. Baller of the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Baller, who was on the summer faculty of the University of California here, said recent research has shown adolescence "to be a period of confidence and high optimism."

"You might say today's young people are keyed up but not afraid," he said, adding that today's youth is preoccupied with much the same problems as yesteryear. His goals, according to the doctor, can be summarized:

1. Satisfactory dependence-in-dependence relationships with parents and other adults.
2. Satisfactory concept of civic responsibility.
3. Satisfactory religious philosophy.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Ke-faever Suffers From Jealous Rivals In Senate; Lyndon Johnson Tried To Block His Probe Of Monopoly And Dixon-Yates; Estes Has Both Courage And Political Know-How.

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson is writing a series of analyses of the various presidential candidates in what is shaping up as the hottest election campaign in years. Last week he analyzed Gov. Harriman of New York and was the first to report Harry Truman's friendly support for Harriman. Today he analyzes Senator Kefauver of Tennessee.)

WASHINGTON — An eastern newspaper editor phoned me recently to ask why Estes Kefauver of Tennessee was not popular with his Senate colleagues and why he didn't receive more support from the Democratic king-makers when obviously he had a tremendous following with the voting public.

The answer to the first question is professional jealousy. About 48 of the 96 senators consider themselves potential candidates for president or vice president and none wants to help build up a rival.

The situation is best illustrated by what went on behind the scenes when Kefauver probed the dynamite-laden Dixon-Yates power contract. In the first place, Sen.
Lyndon Johnson of Texas, himself a dark-horse candidate, laid down the law to Senator Kilgore of West Virginia, chairman of the Judiciary committee, that Kefauver must not be chairman of a Judiciary subcommittee to probe monopolies. Otherwise, Johnson warned, Kilgore's committee would get no funds.

Obviously Johnson did not want the gambling senator from Tennessee getting headlines as a monopoly investigator. Kefauver has been lighting big business and monopoly ever since he was a member of the House Small Business committee. He had thrown the spotlight on General Motors favoritism inside the Defense Department back in 1953 and even helped force the cancellation of some General Motors contracts.

Despite that, Lyndon Johnson just didn't want Kefauver in a key chairmanship.
Later, Kefauver managed to get hold of another subcommittee to investigate Dixon-Yates. Whereupon an amazing thing happened.
Kilgore wrote an official letter to Kefauver laying down strict orders that he was not to probe Dixon-Yates for more than two days.

In brief, jealous senators did not want Kefauver getting headlines even though he did headline the pioneer battling against Dixon-Yates when other senators thought he was chasing a will-o'- the-wisp.

Finally Kefauver got friends to work on Kilgore and the two-day restriction against probing Dixon-Yates was changed.

COURAGE AND KNOW-HOW
Whether other senators like Kefauver or not, there is one important fact that has to be taken into consideration regarding his capabilities as a candidate. He has a rare combination of courage, political know-how, and a Davy Crockett flair for the dramatic.

Some senators have great courage, but don't get re-elected.
Some have no courage, but do get re-elected. Kefauver has had the courage to stand up and fight for unpopular issues when he was almost alone; yet he has had the political know-how to get re-elected.

This is all-important in sizing up any candidate. For a president of the United States must have courage. He must also know how to get elected.

Kefauver, for instance, was the only southern congressman who had the courage to vote for the Negro on the tough test of cloture — namely, cutting off debate on race questions. He was one of only two or three senators who saw the danger of Harold Talbot's appointment as secretary of the air force and delivered a long speech against his confirmation.
Talbot's later resignation proved that the Tennesseean was right.

Kefauver was one of only five or six senators to stand up on the Senate floor and oppose the special resolution giving Eisenhower power to go to war and even drop the atom bomb over Quemoy and Matsu. It took real guts to do this. The House had steam-rolled the resolution through in record time. Potent Senator George of Georgia clamored for immediate passage.

But Kefauver defied George, calmly debated the resolution, led the attack against it. Time has since indicated the incident was a tempest in a teapot.

Kefauver was also the only senator willing to ask embarrassing, penetrating questions of Federal Communications Chairman George McConaughy's connection with the Bell Telephone company.

Today, one year later, the Bell System's contracts and influence inside the administration has become about the hottest issue in Washington.

Kefauver also was one of the first senators to crack down on his colleague, Joe McCarthy — dating back even to 1946 when he helped expose McCarthy's phony charges against American servicemen for allegedly torturing the 55 men, Nazis responsible for the Malmady massacre.

Battles like these require more courage than is present in the average senator. But they did not endear him to his colleagues.
BIG CITY CRIME PROBE
What makes Democratic king-makers bitter against the long, tall senator from Tennessee is that he focused his crime probe on the big Democratic strongholds of Chicago, New York, Kansas City, shortly before the 1952 election.

This, they claim, helped Kefauver, but played right into the hands of the Republicans. It also brought the defeat of Democratic Senate Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois.

Lucas was so sore that, once finding himself at the same table with Kefauver at a dinner for the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, he got up and walked out.

The king-makers were so down on Kefauver in '52 that the Democratic National committee secretly sent $40,000 to Cook county, Illinois, just before the Chicago convention to stop Kefauver's drive for the nomination. This was highly unusual, if not unethical. National committee money is not supposed to be used for or against any one candidate in a nomination race.

But in this case it was used to nail the Democrat who had gone into state primary after state primary to roll up the largest number of delegates, but who, thanks to king-maker opposition, was finally forced to step aside in favor of Adlai Stevenson.

Kefauver has some handicaps, which will be dealt with later.
But today he is probably the best single vote-getter in the Democratic party and among the first three leading candidates.

(A diagnosis of George Humphrey, dark-horse Republican and the most potent influence in the Eisenhower cabinet, will follow shortly.)

See Record Shopping Rush For Christmas

CHICAGO (AP)—The Christmas shopping rush, expected to set another record this year, should be a joy to retailers in general and jewelers in particular.

A study shows that jewelers do 31 per cent of their annual business during the Christmas season.
Men constitute 84 per cent of the jeweler's customers during the holiday buying spree.

The study of Christmas shopping trends was made by Standard Factors Corp., which does about 70 million dollars annually in financing installment and charge account business for retailers.

Theodore H. Silbert, Standard Factors president, predicts that Christmas retail sales and total retail sales for the year will set new records.

Expect $5,000,000,000 Increase Sales for the entire year, he said, will total about 175 billion dollars, about 5 billion more than last year.

Men's clothing stores do better than women's specialty shops during the Christmas rush, the survey showed. The men's stores do 26 per cent of their yearly total during the Christmas season while the women's shops do 22 per cent.

Silbert said this is because the women invade the men's shops to buy Christmas ties and shirts, while the men buy many of their presents for women at the jewelry stores.

Department stores do 23 per cent of their annual business during the holiday season, Silbert said, while furniture, radio-TV and appliance dealers do 21 per cent.

More for the House
Silbert said Christmas spending on furniture and appliances has been on the upsurge during the last 10 years because of the housing boom. More people are buying "something for the house" than ever before, he said.

Not is this the only shift in consumer Christmas spending. Time was when the holiday season was a dull period for automobile dealers, Silbert said, but now people flock to see and order the new models.

Hardware stores, too, have stepped up their Christmas sales, largely because of the "do it yourself" trend.

Silbert's survey disclosed another interesting fact. Women spend less on Christmas gifts for men than the men spend on women.

Textured corduroy (left) is used for dress-up separates with a velvet air. Designed by Nina for teen-agers, scoop neck blouse is worn with full skirt with attached cummerbund. Corduroy costume by Anne Klein is wide wale (center) stressing ribbed look. Slim sheath has fingertip jacket with fur fabric lining. Wide wale corduroy appears again (right) in casual clothes for campus wear by Isabel Dohson. Bermuda shorts are worn with dyed-to-match wool jersey cardigan and pullover. ### Wesleyan Service Guild Senior Unit Has Lesson On American Indians

The Senior unit of Wesleyan Service Guild met on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Herman Dunn. The president, Alice Mount, opened the meeting with prayer. "They Are My People, Saith the Lord God" (Indian Americans) was the theme for the evening.

An interesting letter direct from Mary Lou Piper, a Methodist deaconess teaching in the Methodist Mission school for Navajo Indians in Farmington, N. Mex., was read by Mrs. Noble Shaw who gave the devotion.

The lesson was given by several members in the form of a skit on "Wardship" and a discussion on "Indian Leadership." Adding to their presentations were personal accounts of those present who had visited different Indian reservations.

The worship setting prepared by Mrs. Herbert Peak displayed Indian dolls in tribal dress, a ceremonial pitcher used by the Cherokee tribe and study material on the American Indian as prepared for use by the Woman's Society of Christian Service for the year.

Twenty members and two guests, Mrs. Fred Wunderlich who became a member, and Mrs. Alice Kerr, mother of the hostess, enjoyed the refreshments of pumpkin pie, whipped cream and coffee which was served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Earl Booten and Mrs. W. B. Westbrook, at the close of the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud A. Kennedy and little daughter, Barbara Sue, visited with his aunt, Mrs. Claud L. Rew, last week. They returned to their home in Champaign Sunday.

They are now living at 715 South Land in a house owned by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jones who operate a service station at East St. Louis. Mr. Gullett has retired from the Pontiac Motor plant where he was employed for 29 years.

Museum of Immigration Will Put New Feet Under Statue of Liberty

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK—(NEA)—The Statue of Liberty is preparing to take a new stand.

Today her feet are planted within the walls of old Fort Wood on Bedloe's Island. But within two years she will be standing over a living memorial to one of the world's greatest ideas.

For Bedloe's Island is going to be the site of the American Museum of Immigration—a permanent exhibit that will tell the story of how immigrants came from many lands and shared in the building of this nation.

Unlike most museums which house specific items, the Immigration museum will commemorate every American or his father or grandfather or his father. For the fact is, every American, including the Indians, is an immigrant or the descendant of an immigrant.

Standing behind the proposed museum is a familiar name in the history of this country: Ulysses S. Grant. President of the executive committee of the AMI, he is the grandson of the President who first discussed the plan of the Statue of Liberty with its sculptor, Frederic A. Bartholdi.

With Grant on the committee are Pierre S. du Pont III, Charles W. Engelhard, Spyros P. Skouras and Edward Corsi.

These men have already received pledges of a half-million dollars toward the building of the museum. But the two years of work and material needed to build this home of American heritage will cost ten times that amount—$5 million.

To fill the coffers, the committee will appeal to the American people in January. According to one committee member, "We're going to give ourselves one month to put our message across to the people. And then we're going to close the drive and get to work."

Once built, the museum will be turned over to the National Park Service of the federal government. And like the 80-year-old Lady with the Torch, will belong to every American.

What's going to be inside the 50,000 square feet of display space? That assignment has been turned over to a committee headed up by Thomas W. Pitkin, historian of the National Park Service. His findings, he has reported, will be guided by one aim: "to tell the story of how immigrants came from many lands and shared in the building of the nation."

He and his committee will concentrate most of their research into the years from 1815 to 1914 when wave after wave of people from widely diversified origins came here to create a new culture in the mainstream of civilization.

Expect Dewey To Be Boomed For Nomination

WASHINGTON — Speculation increased today that former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will be boomed by his supporters for the 1956 Republican presidential nomination.

Chairman L. Judson Morhouse of the New York Republican Party intensified the speculation Tuesday night with a statement that any one of several men "in or out" of government could lead the party to victory if President Eisenhower does not run again.

Morhouse, speaking at a $50-a-plate GOP dinner at Schenectady, N. Y., did not identify the potential candidates. But Dewey, now engaged in private law practice, and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, are the most frequently mentioned possibilities for the nomination among men outside federal or state government.

Postal Pamphlet Gives Points on Wrapping Packages

Helpful facts about wrapping and shipping packages are contained in a new and profusely illustrated pamphlet entitled "Packaging and Wrapping. Parcels for Mailing," available free at all post offices on and after October 15, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced today.

The pamphlet, excerpted from the Postal Manual, describes the types and sizes of cartons best suited for outer and inner shipping containers; gives details for the internal protection for goods being shipped; lists hints on wrapping chinaware, stemware, framed pictures, books, and other goods; and gives instructions for marking various types of parcels to insure the quickest possible delivery.

Written instructions are highlighted by numerous illustrations showing how to wrap and tie packages securely. Drawings of various types of containers and boxes and the best way to use protective material to guard goods against breakage are also used.

"This free pamphlet," Mr. Summerfield pointed out, "if used in conjunction with the Department's free pamphlet entitled 'Domestic Postage Rates and Fees' which was issued a few months ago, should answer practically all questions any user of the mails might have on fees, rates, special services, and protection of parcels in transit."

The Postmaster General emphasized that much of the delay in delivery of parcels, particularly at Christmas, and most of the damage en route is due to lack of knowledge of basic rules to follow in mailing packages.

"The employees of the Post Office Department have a tremendous job ahead of them again this coming Christmas season," Mr. Summerfield added. "Every effort will be made to deliver all mail on time and in good condition by Christmas Eve, as has been done these past two years. May I urge mailers to avail themselves of these two free pamphlets: 'Packaging and Wrapping Parcels for Mailing,' Post Office Department Publication No. 2; and 'Domestic Postage Rates and Fees,' Post Office Department Publication No. 3, which will answer most of their mailing questions, demonstrate the best methods of packing goods, and help the postal employees in their important work of moving the huge volume of Christmas parcels."

Egyptian Boy Scouts' Fall Round-Up Camporee Oct. 21-22

Boy Scouts and Explorers of the fifteen southern Illinois counties comprising the Egyptian Council Boy Scouts of America, will gather at Community Park, in West Frankfort, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 21-22, for a Fall Round-Up Camporee.

The Camporee will be a demonstration of Campercraft skills, and activities to demonstrate efficiency in Camping. Each unit will set up its own Campsite and will be scored against a standard and will be rated as either proficient, standard or participating.

Activities during the week-end consist of an Historical Adventure Trail, in which Scouts and Explorers will be tested on Scoutcraft skills, including rope work, first aid, compass, fire building, signaling and other skills. This will take place on Saturday morning, at 10 a. m.

Saturday afternoon each unit will select some skill which they will demonstrate in their campsite while other units and friends visit around and practice the skills to be demonstrated.

The highlight Saturday evening will be a huge campfire program which will be opened with the traditional Indian ceremony and will consist of a program of songs, stunts and skits by various units participating.

Parents and the general public are invited to visit the Camporee any time Saturday especially for the campfire program Saturday evening.

Sunday is to be given over to religious observance with visiting Scouts and Explorers guests at church services in various churches of West Frankfort, at morning services. Sunday noon parents and families are urged to join their sons for picnic lunches and to remain for the closing ceremonies at 3 p. m.

Coincidence in Lives Of Two Airmen

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — — — — — Instructors at the language school at Lackland Air Force Base are convinced that coincidences comes in bunches.

Airman 3/c Heinrich Hogendorf and Airman 2/c Heinrich Marschik noticed the similarity in their first names when they joined the school's staff early this year. Then they discovered how far the coincidence goes.

Marschik was born near Frankenburg-Eder, Germany; Hogendorf a few miles away. Both were born on Feb. 3, 1930.

Hogendorf came to the United States in 1950 as a cadet in the Dutch Air Force and was assigned to Randolph Air Force Base, also near San Antonio.

During the same period, Marschik was studying at Oregon University as an exchange journalism student. Hogendorf returned to the United States as an immigrant in 1953; Marschik in 1952.

Both applied for citizenship on the same day, took their citizenship tests on the same day and were both declared U. S. citizens at the same time by the same federal judge on July 25.

Seattle, Spokane and Tacoma are the only three cities in Washington with populations of 100,000 or more.

Dr. Prusaczyk Buys Pickford Home on Rt. 13

Dr. William Prusaczyk, veterinarian, 608 North Main street, has bought the property on Rt. 13 west of Harrisburg, owned by Raymond Pickford, which consists of a house and two acres of ground, on which he intends to establish a boarding kennel and animal hospital.

Dr. Prusaczyk, who came to Harrisburg a year ago last June, has been looking for such a location close to Harrisburg and through the Erton Real Estate brokers the deal for the Pickford property was made.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pickford are building a new home across the highway from their present home, which Dr. and Mrs. Prusaczyk expect to occupy about Dec. 1. By the middle of next year he hopes to have the planned additions and improvements made.

The Ertons have also sold to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hicks, Springfield, the property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Joyner at 701 West Sloan street which will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Beabout, parents of Mrs. Hicks.

Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Cletcher, who recently sold their home on South Granger street, have bought the five room modern house at 721 Charleston street, owned by Mrs. Clyde A. Secret, who is moving to Bartow, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grisham and baby have moved to 1009 South Ledford street, to the five room modern house, which they recently bought from Mr. and Mrs. Guy Price. The Prices now occupy their beautiful newly built home at the corner of Church and Granger street.

Each of these are real estate transactions reported by Mr. and Mrs. Erton.

Two Bandits Rob
Widow of $120,000
Cash and Jewelry

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Two men, one of them wearing a Halloween mask, broke into the home of a wealthy widow Tuesday night and robbed her of an estimated $120,000 in cash and jewelry.

Police said the bandits crashed through French doors into the living room of Mrs. Margaret Kellogg, where she and three lady friends were watching television.

One of the bandits, wearing a silk stocking over his head, brandished a gun and demanded that Mrs. Kellogg open a safe.

"If you don't move and move fast, we'll kill you," he said.

Mrs. Kellogg, widow of a wealthy Missouri Valley, Iowa, banker, opened an office-type safe and turned over an estimated $15,000 to $20,000 in cash and about $100,000 worth of jewelry.

The two men then fled outside to a parked car, where another man was waiting, and drove off.

The bandits' car narrowly missed hitting a police cruiser, which reached the scene seconds after they left.

State Police File
More Charges
After Area Raids

MARION, Ill. (AP)—State police today filed another set of charges as a result of gambling and vice raids last Saturday night.

The state patrolmen filed information against three men and two women. The Williamson county state's attorney's office will seek writs from the County Court for the arrest of the persons involved.

Similar charges were filed against the five persons Sunday in Justice of Peace Court here.

One complaint charged Elmo Farris with keeping gaming devices at the Mariner's Club near Johnston City. State police seized nine slot machines there last year.

Another charge of keeping gaming devices was filed against Mario Crespi, who operates a tavern at Colp where a dice table and blackjack table were found. And John Oglesby was charged with operating a gaming device at Crespi's Tavern. Authorities said Oglesby was convicted of keeping a gaming device following a raid last year.

Charges of being inmates of a house of ill-fame and soliciting for prostitution were filed against Juanita Boykins and Nattie Porter. The alleged offenses took place in a place called Ma Hatchett's in Colp.

Council to Ask Bids
On Water Plant Addition

gested that bids be asked to find the exact cost, that work of negotiating could start from there. He said he could not cut down on the specifications, but suggested that perhaps the city could buy its mechanical equipment independently and install it with local help. That, he said, should save money.

Running at Deficit

Ronald E. Favreau of the state department of public health was present and concurred in Sode-mann's remarks. He said that what had been proposed was the absolute minimum at which the city should shoot.

"You have a fine supply of raw water, but you don't have treatment facilities to take care of this ample supply on hand. If there's any way to do it at all, do it."

Favreau was then told by council members that the city, despite its fine supply, was having its problems in bringing the water down Middle Fork because of the pollution entering Middle Fork from Banksion creek.

And regarding finances, Commissioner Don Williams said that because of the interest rate on the new $200,000 bond issue which must be paid, the water department is running at a deficit and there are no profits there to put into the plant.

However, it was decided to go ahead and ask for bids and in the meantime to look around and see how much money there is in funds that can be taken for this project.

Bids were turned in yesterday for both chassis and fire truck equipment to be mounted on the chassis decided upon.

There were bids on two Ford truck chassis and one GMC. There were three bids from fire truck companies on mounting the fire apparatus and these bids ranged around $7,000. This means the city should get a new fire truck for around $10,000 or $11,000 to replace the 1938 model on hand.

A committee will study the bids and make a report at the next meeting.

The delegation from the south part of town, headed by Donald Wilson, was told by Mayor Claude Gibbons to go ahead immediately with the paper work needed to get the paving project under way, that it is the No. 1 paving project for 1956.

The city received the deed to the 40 acres from Sahara. It was pointed out that it was an outright grant of the land to the city.

Mothers Block Intersection to Get Traffic Light

DETROIT (AP)—State highway officials today promised a group of angry suburban mothers who blockaded a dangerous state highway intersection that a traffic light would be installed there with "all possible speed."

The intersection of Telegraph and Wick roads is 2 1/2 blocks away from the school. Some 3,600 pupils riding in school buses pass the unmarked intersection twice daily.

More than 100 Taylor Township mothers, bearing signs reading "Death trap, we want a red light" and "Telegraph, Michigan's slaughter house," formed the blockade Tuesday. They were protesting the death of a local high school teacher who was killed at the intersection Monday after vigorously campaigning for the traffic light.

The mothers agreed to form the blockade Tuesday after learning of the traffic death of the teacher, Mrs. Bernice McDowell, 29-year-old expectant mother of nearby Trenton.

Carter Favored In Bout Tonight With Bud Smith

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Shuffling Jimmy Carter, who pops in and out of the world lightweight championship like a jack-in-the-box is an 8-5 favorite to win the title for the fourth time tonight in a return bout against Cincinnati's Wallace (Bud) Smith.

Smith, 26, will be making his first defense of the 135-pound crown since he won it from hard-to-figure Carter at Boston on June 29 on a split decision.

Their 15-round bout at Cincinnati Garden will be televised and broadcast nationally over ABC networks at 10 p. m. EDT.

Carter, 31, is favored because he lost the title to Smith in June by the narrowest possible margin of a single point. And because he recaptured the crown on other occasions in return bouts with Lauro Salas and Paddy DeMarco.

Some veteran travelers find packing is easier if they make in advance a list of things needed. Pack the list too. It serves as a check list each time you re-pack and move on.

Beat Benton, 12-6

Harrisburg freshmen beat the Benton frosh, 12 to 6, in a grid battle at Taylor Field last night.

The game was tied until two minutes to go when Harrisburg scored to clinch the victory.

The locals scored first on a reserve pass from Ronnie Rauh, halfback, to Wendell Fischer, end, during the second period. Benton tied the count in the third quarter. Toward the close of the game the same play, a Rauh to Fischer pass, worked again for a tally.

Coach Jim Beers started Donald Sheldon and Fischer at ends, Ronnie Maynard and Donnie Pickford at tackles, Don Beal and Gary Leverett at guards, Darrell Biggs at center, Joe Ford at quarterback, Rauh and David Dalton at halfbacks and Lowell Furlong at fullback.

Others who played were Darrell Duke, A. J. Bryant, Mike Woolcott, DeWayne Martin and Bruce Roper.

New Uzzle Store Building on Rt. 45 Near Eldorado

UZZLE'S NEW FURNITURE, RADIO AND TV STORE, located on Route 45 near Eldorado. The Uzzle brothers, who have been active in the furniture, radio and TV business in Carrier Mills, are expanding their operations and have built a new store near Eldorado on U. S. Highway 45 and will have the grand opening of the new business this week end, starting Thursday and continuing through Saturday. The modern, two story building houses a complete furniture display on the second floor, with TV, radio and appliance displays on the main floor, which also contains the office, repair sections and storage room in the back. The building, of brick and block materials and huge glass front, is 45 feet by 85 feet. The interior decoration includes celotex ceiling, tile floor and the walls are painted in pastel shades of blue and pink. On the second floor at the front is a 15 by 45 section where two complete rooms of furniture—bedroom and living room—are displayed. Another similar size room is used for showing various pieces of bedroom furniture, then a big 36 by 45 section is devoted to the showing of living room furnishings, including chairs, divans, desks, lamps and carpeting and the rear section of the second floor contains complete kitchen furnishings. Large archways connect the various display rooms. On the main floor major appliances are displayed in a room that is 27 by 45 feet and TV sets are displayed in a 22 by 15 room to the right and offices are at the left. To allow full view of the interior the building has almost a complete glass front. Major door prizes will be awarded and all those visiting the store are invited to register. There also will be souvenirs of the grand opening.

Grand Opening of New Uzzle Store at Eldorado Thursday, Friday, Saturday

TV, Furniture
Mart is Located
On Highway 45

A grand opening lasting three days with a telethon on the last day will be held by Uzzle's new Television and Furniture Mart on U. S. 45 in Eldorado on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Over one thousand dollars in prizes will be given away, including two television sets, Motorola and General Electric, several large and small pieces of furniture and there will be free souvenirs for each of the first 6,000 people visiting the new store.

It is operated by three Uzzle brothers, John, 33, Roy, 28, and Cecil, 21, and their sister, Juanita, 26, who has not heretofore been connected with operating the Uzzle store and will have the happy privilege of also working there.

Two-Story Building

The new store will feature Hi-Town carpeting, Englander and Sealy mattresses, Fashion Trend and L. G. Jones furniture and is headquarters for county wide distribution of Norge appliances and Motorola televisions. General Electric appliances will also be featured at the new store.

Besides furniture and televisions and appliances, the Uzzle Television and Furniture Mart will do electrical contracting, plumbing and the laying of tile floor. Cecil Uzzle will be the tile floor expert. Plumbing and electrical work will be under direction of Don Owens.

The Eldorado store is 45x85 feet, and is two stories high. It has beautiful glass display fronts upstairs and down. Elmer Ewan was the general contractor.

General Office at Eldorado

Return from military service of Cecil Uzzle is the occasion for expansion of a business that has grown to be known all over southern Illinois. Carrier Mills has been the center of the large retail business in furniture and appliances of which John (Junior) Uzzle is the general manager.

The office of the general manager will in future be at the Eldorado store, and his brother, Roy, will be in charge of the store at Carrier Mills.

Besides the members of the family active in the business, the Uzzles have as repairmen and reliable assistants, Bill and Bob Martin, twin brothers who have been with them since 1942, Tom Hurst, employed since 1945, Gerald Mulvaney who has worked there six or seven years, Don Owens, three years, Bob Mitchell, and Bob Dunn. Mrs. Fay Lou Martin is their store "housekeeper." Miss Patsy Downey is bookkeeper at the Eldorado store and Miss Fern Mitchell is bookkeeper at the Carrier Mills store.

The Uzzles are not strangers in Eldorado. They received their grade school education in Eldorado, while the family lived in Cottage Grove township. They were born in Franklin county and resided at Logan and Benton before moving to Cottage Grove and then to Carrier Mills.

Five Brothers, Two Sisters

There are five of the Uzzle brothers and they have two sisters: Mrs. Frances Smith, Madisonville, Ky., and Miss Juanita Uzzle, at home. Another brother, Everett, died in 1950 and Herman, who is a miner by occupation, lives in Dorris Heights. Gene, employed also as a miner, works as a repairman at the store on the days when the mine is idle. Their father, Logan Uzzle, is a foreman for Delta Coal Co.

Juanita, 26, Roy, 28, and John, 33, have physical handicaps due to muscular atrophy with which they and Everett were born. In their childhood they had to depend upon their father for many services at home. These duties he performed with devotion and kindness, with love blended with righteousness and an exacting adherence to the highest principles for his children.

Brother Was Advisor

His work took him away from them during the day. They simply had to learn to take care of themselves so he could go about making a living for the family. This they learned to do and are now proud and happy that they learned to do so. Since she was 12 Juanita has been a homemaker, helping her sister, Frances, until the latter married and moved away and since then fixing meals for the family and taking care of the house.

In the daytime absence of their father their eldest brother, Everett, assumed leadership at an early age and he established a pattern of self reliance that became the standard for his brothers and sisters. To them he was their defender, their teacher, advisor and the big hearted listener to all of their childhood problems and hopes and fears.

He was inspired to take a radio apart to see what made it work back in the late 1930's. With a screw driver, a vise and a wooden box as a "bench" he was in the vanguard of the "learn-by-doing" brigade, and soon became convinced that he could "earn-by-doing."

With only a grade school education and with muscular atrophy his ambition to know all about electronics drove him with dynamite power. His younger brothers were literally compelled by his determination to also study electronics.

When finally, they felt qualified they set up a shop in the back room of a restaurant in Equality which was owned by Herman Uzzle and their uncle, Charles Stewart.

In two years' time their repair business grew until the whole restaurant room was occupied as a radio shop.

Then came the news that it would be necessary for their father to move closer to his work, which was with the Delta Coal Co., near Carrier Mills. He bought a home in Carrier Mills.

With misgivings natural to timid young men that they were, they faced a bleak future, determined to surmount every obstacle. They were unknown and had to set about inspiring the confidence of an indifferent public skeptical that anyone so physically handicapped could ever be proficient in any kind of work.

It was an uphill task but in two years' time they did it! By 1944 they had built a sizeable business which had its beginning on U. S. 45 across the highway from the present O'Keefe Distributing Co.

Television Added

Furniture and appliances were added to the repair business about 1944 and they moved to the Henshaw building on Main street. By the end of World War 2 television was added to the furniture and appliances and they moved to their present Carrier Mills location two blocks west on Main street, and this building they own, also some residence property in Carrier Mills.

Before the death of Everett, which occurred in 1950, the Uzzle children and their father were converted and joined the First Baptist church in Carrier Mills. Men of the church and their pastor, Rev. Ernest Ammon, appreciating the wonderful spirit of the family, and community inspiration generated by their cheerful self reliance, prevailed upon them to start coming to church. Their shyness at first was overcome by a faith which needed only to be understood by them. Since their baptism in 1947 the family has been in church and Sunday school nearly every Sabbath day.

Their Sunday school teachers find their beaming smiles, a strengthening influence on Sunday morning. To them the church and their pastor have offered the restoring uplift for which they had looked to Everett for so many years.

The self reliance demanded by their father has enabled them to memorize the location of every item in their place of business and to tell at a glance whether even a lead pencil has been moved from where it was. This, together with their fair dealing and well placed reliance upon certain employees for physical assistance, has had a great deal to do with their success.

Roy describes their family attainments as "God given." His explanation that they had to ask God for help and that God has helped them greatly is a simple testimony of faith that leans unquestioningly upon the graciousness of their Lord and Savior.

A fellow business man sums up the feeling of competitors in the area when he said, "When they could be sitting in wheel chairs letting the government take care of them, they are making the rest of us gray haired trying to figure out ways of trying to keep up with them."

They hide neither their religious light nor their business under a bushel. Firmly believing that advertising is the life of business, they use all means to let the world know that they sell furniture and televisions.

Result—Sale of 4500 televisions since 1949 and repair of sixty radios and televisions per week.

National Chairman of ADA Okays Three Leading Democratic Candidates

By LYLE C. WILSON

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — The national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action has okayed the three leading Democratic possibilities for next year's presidential nomination.

The national chairman is Joseph L. Rauh Jr. of Washington, D. C., who was unable to discover any Republican with a chance of being nominated who would please his organization. Rauh dedicated ADA, however, to seek to influence the nominating conventions of both political parties.

Rauh listed in alphabetical order the three Democrats he regards as leading candidates: Gov. Averell Harriman, New York; Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tennessee, and Adlai E. Stevenson, Illinois, in The Bag.

Any one of these, if nominated, could count ADA in the bag with confidence even though the Republicans come up with a presidential ticket substantially fitting that organization's specifications.

The hard core of ADA is composed of veterans of FDR's New Deal. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is national honorary chairman. Robert R. Nathan, a notable New Dealer, is chairman of the executive committee. Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., of Stevenson's 1952 strategy board, is national vice chairman.

A green light from ADA is a solid advantage in a Democratic nominating convention.

The smartly-led ADA pack considerable punch. Chairman Rauh endorsed what he called the three leading Democratic candidates in a speech delivered Sunday night at Rutgers University. It was more interesting than widely reported.

Rauh disposed of the Democrats easily in friendly fashion. He devoted most of his speech to an attack on Vice President Richard M. Nixon and a warning to the Republican Party that it dare not nominate a conservative next year.

"The Republicans know the independent vote is liberal," Rauh said. "The Democrats know it. Just read the papers."

"The editorial columns are featuring a new parlor game: Locating-a-winner, better known as trying to find a Republican who doesn't look like a Republican."

"Such an un-Republican Republican as Milton Eisenhower, a 'left-wing New Dealer,' with a magic name; John McCloy, a key man in the Fair Deal administration and Earl Warren, whose liberalism simply paralyzes grass-roots Republicans."

"Lacking its one cohesive force—the strength of President Eisenhower's candidacy—the Republican Party is faced with the unhappy choice of accepting a candidate who is unacceptable to most powerful Republicans—for example, an Earl Warren or a Milton Eisenhower—or choosing a candidate who is unacceptable to the majority of voters.

"This dilemma is the strength of Richard Nixon."

Folks Who Miss Sermon Can Get a Playback

SHAWNEE, Okla. — When folks can't come to the Presbyterian Church here, the sermon goes to them by wire recorder.

Rev. Sam P. Riccobene, the pastor, visits the homes of members absent from their pews because of illness or infirmities and takes along his recording machine on which he plays back the pastoral prayer, special music and the sermon.

"We all enjoy it together, and I feel like it meets a real need," the pastor explained.

Fire Truck Refuses To Wear Out

CANTON, Ill. — The Canton city council is plagued with a fire truck that just won't wear out. The truck was purchased 15 years ago with funds donated by Canton area farmers. In return, the Canton city council agreed to give free rural fire protection during the life of the truck. Now the rural fire protection is becoming too much of a financial burden, but the truck won't wear out. Alderman Manley Staley proposed that the truck be declared worn out even though it still has a lot of life left in it. "If the city keeps on repairing that truck, it'll last forever," Staley said, "we've got to take some sort of action." Staley's proposal was shelved until the first of the year. ## Murder in Haiti

by John W. Vandercreek

THE STORY: Robert Deane, American criminologist, and Bertrand Lynch, British detective, are trying to learn why they have been retained by Viggo Sand, international man of mystery. All they know so far is that they are on some sort of treasure hunting cruise to the Caribbean.

As we closed the door of the Captain's cabin behind us, blinking for an instant to accustom our eyes again to the starlit dark, we became aware of a man walking away from us through the deep shadows between the ship's boats. It was one of the trio Lily Wyndham had unkindly described as "freaks," who had joined the yacht in Germany; a tall, youngish-looking Teuton somewhere in his later 30's. The creature glared in the name of Siegfried Meer.

Meer glanced up at the starlit summer sky. "Even at this season, gentlemen, it is pleasant, is it not, to be going to the southward? The tropical West Indian islands are very beautiful. I am told."

"You were in the Navy, Herr Meer?" Lynch interjected. "A submariner?"

Even in the three-quarters darkness I could detect Meer's astonishment. His recovery was rapid. "Oh, no, you are mistaken. The little knowledge I have of the sea is that when I was a boy and then a youth my good father let me do much sailing in a small boat."

"You lived near the sea, then?" Lynch said.

Having, in effect, already said so, our water-born Siegfried had to agree.

"You're from Colberg?"

"Nein! The Heinsrichswalde."

"Ah, the Kurisches Haff," Lynch observed. "A delightful spot for sailing."

We were only a few paces from our respective destinations. The German went to his cabin—G—at the after end of corridor on the port side. Lynch led the way to mine.

"Not entirely satisfactory, Deane, of course," he declared rather loudly. "But I feel we have made progress. Great progress."

As he was delivering himself of these not particularly choice gems of monologue, Lynch was darting softly about my room. Opening the closet door, he removed a pair of gray flannel trousers.

"If there's nothing else you want me for I shall say goodnight, then," Lynch went on. "I will report to Mr. Sand, as you suggested, then turn in."

Lynch opened the door into the corridor and closed it again with himself still inside. Then, with gross disregard for my property, he tiptoed across the cabin and tightly wrapped the base of the fixed lamp on the bedside table with my trousers. The lamp, which I now really noticed for the first time, was a bronze affair with an elaborately wrought, open-work base. It was within these bases, as Lynch had told me—for there is a lamp of the same type and same position in each cabin—that our less-than-genial host had installed his microphones.

Lynch looked pleased. "Meer seems to me to have the bearing of an officer. I found his look at the stars revealing. It was automatic. It was also expert. Meer was checking the ship's course. Yet neither his eyes nor his skin have the weathered, hardened look of the usual naval officer. I therefore deduced the submarine service," Lynch smiled.

that Meer was a Prussian. Probably an East Prussian. Prussians do not like to be thought to be anything but Prussians. So, in denial, Meer promptly assured me I was right. The Heinsrichswalde is a coastal district in East Prussia. The Kurisches Haff is a shallow body of water separated from the open Baltic by a sand island. I suggest that also tells us something of Meer's political prejudices.

I nodded. "East Prussia is now Russian territory. That means that if Meer's people had any property—and a kind father who gives little Siggie a sailboat suggests it—then that property is now firmly in the grip of those boys who don't let go easy. All of which would make Siegfried a bitter anti-Communist."

At the end of two hours I reached the conclusion the passengers of the Vittoria "bedded down" slowly. At the end of three I was sound asleep.

Lynch roused me with an unkind toe. He perched on the edge of the bed. The Vittoria's cabins sported beds, not berths. My trousers were still wrapped around the base of the lamp, so he could speak freely.

"I saw Sand. He admitted me. I may say, rather grudgingly. My suggestion that you and not he may have been the knife-thrower's intended victim may have persuaded him. Or, it may not. Mr. Sand is not communicative. In either case he is now sure that one of his guests, or some member of the crew, is a ruthless and reckless criminal. That fact puzzles and disturbs him. It has not yet alarmed him sufficiently to induce him to confide in me. My broad hints that we be briefed more thoroughly as to the precise purpose of the trip and the background of everyone aboard, were turned aside. That's why I plan a little escapade for us tonight."

"Namely?"

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS: A Rock and A Legend

JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University
A small rocky island near the Missouri shore of the Mississippi at Grand Tower in Jackson county has borne several names. It was early known as the Rock of the Cross because of the large crucifix erected on its crest by the Catholic priests who came as missionaries to the Indians. It later became Tower Rock and appears on maps as such. Local residents generally refer to it as The Rock. Whatever the name, it is one of the most noted landmarks along the Mississippi.

Many stories, some based on facts and others on fancy, cluster about the rocky islet. The earlier of these stories come from Indian legends that were already old when the first white men came. The later stories are from the records and lore left by explorers and travelers who journeyed along the river or from settlers who came to live in the vicinity. "The Rock" is a natural setting for stories.

The river here is somewhat narrowed and the current is rapid. Only a small channel separates the island rock from the Missouri shore. At certain river stages the whirlpools and rapids that swirl about Tower Rock are dangerous to river craft. Indians in their canoes took care to avoid these hazards. They said that at flood stages in particular an evil spirit dwelt there to seize upon unwary passersby. White men also learned to avoid the perils that lay about the islet.

Indian Legends
When river stages permit reasonably safe access to the island, some persons like to go to its top for a long view of the river with its interesting and striking shorelines. It is worth the effort. Legend relates that this was also a practice of the Indians.

Bits of several Indian legends and at least one of their complete stories survive. This story concerns an Indian brave and the maid that loved him. A condensed version of the story is given here. A full account of it appears in the Cairo Delta for June 13, 1948.

According to the story as related there by J. Milton Sanders, a Wyandotte brave, Wonecasta, a Wyandotte brave, Wonecasta, had spent a night in the relative safety and seclusion that the island top afforded. Early the next morning he arose and stood upon the highest rocky point to welcome the coming day with his voiced thanks to the Great Spirit and the column smoking of a ceremonial pipe. The Indian did not tarry long for he had set out on a definite mission. He soon made his way to the Missouri shore and moved westward through the forest. Before noon he reached a glade near the dwelling place of a tribe of Fox Indians.

Wonecasta paused in the glade and drew forth a reed whistle. With this he sounded one piercing note and remained listening. He soon heard a rustling along the woodland path from the Indian camp and saw an Indian maiden approaching. It was Ya-Roh-Nia, daughter of Chieftain Tamandague. The one shrill note had been the signal for their rendezvous.

Intruder Appears
Wonecasta at once began to relate to Ya-Roh-Nia the story of his prowess as a warrior and to declare his love for her. She, in turn, declared her love for him and told him of the plans of her father to give her as a bride to a brave of the Fox tribe. They continued to talk and to make plans to thwart those of her father.

Within an hour, however, an intruder appeared. Ye-Wong-Ate of the Fox tribe entered the glade. He was the brave to whom the father would give Ya-Roh-Nia. After each had directed a few barbed remarks toward the other the two suitors fell into furious combat. When it appeared that her lover was to be killed, Ya-Roh-Nia deftly struck the knife from the Fox warrior's grasp. The fight, however, continued with fury.

At this time the chief medicine man of the Fox tribe appeared in the glade. He at once commanded the men to cease their struggle and they complied. After listening to their stories he decreed a method by which the issue should be settled.

On the next morning at dawn the two warriors were to be on the top of Tower Rock where Wonecasta had spent the previous night and where he had stood that very morning to welcome the new day. There each in turn was to smoke from the pipe that the medicine man carried. Each would blow the smoke upward. The one whose smoke ascended to the greatest height in an unbroken mass was to have Ya-Roh-Nia for his bride. These arrangements had been made without the maiden's consent.

At the dawn of the next day the two warriors and the medicine man were at the appointed place on the top of Tower Rock. The ceremonial pipe was filled and lighted. Ye-Wong-Ate was first to try his skill. The smoke he blew upward rose in an unbroken mass until it seemed to blend with the sky. It was now Wonecasta's turn. The smoke he blew upward had hardly left his mouth when it broke into bits and vanished into the air. By decree of the medicine man, Ya-Roh-Nia would become the bride of the Fox.

Events now took an unexpected turn. A shout was heard from the brink of the rock not far away. When the medicine man and the two warriors turned to observe the source of the shout, they saw Ya-Roh-Nia standing upon a ledge of rock above the river. She had stealthily followed them to the place of the contest and had observed the outcome.

Awestruck and powerless the seated men heard her proclaim that she loved only the Wyandotte warrior and would not abide by the decision of the medicine man and be the bride of the Fox. She then turned and leaped into the muddy river a hundred feet below. The place from whence she leaped is still pointed out as one of the "lovers' leaps" of southern Illinois.

These stories are somewhat common, and one can almost believe that some Indian maiden must have leaped at some time from some cliff because of thwarted love. Anyway, they are good stories.
